October Program – Tour of the Schebler Boiler Chimney Factory

Michael Mommsen has been with Schebler Chimney Systems since 2008 providing technical consultation to engineering firms, building owners, and boiler manufacturers. Schebler Chimney Systems have been providing engineering venting solutions to the HVAC industry for over 25 years and Michael has worked extensively with Schebler's experienced engineering and design staff to communicate and coordinate design practices that meet ASHRAE, IMC, NFPA, and ANSI requirements. Michael has also developed relationships with boiler/HWH manufacturers to assist engineers designing venting systems, specifically for complex high efficiency appliances. Schebler Chimney Systems has successfully designed and implemented thousands of venting systems for complex installations providing turnkey solutions including draft control and solving countless issues related to improper venting.

Prior to working for Schebler Chimney Systems, Michael spent 10 years as a systems build technician, Programming Engineer, and Technical Sales Director for a major robot welding system integrator, Genesis Systems Group.
