May Program: Crawford Company Fabrication Division Tour

Our trip to Crawford Company will include a short presentation in the training facility followed by a tour of the fabrication division that includes the brewery division.

Jim Maynard Jr. is vice president and part owner of Crawford Company. Jim has been at Crawford for most of his working years. His father was one of the owners who retired about 20 years ago. He swept floors, drove trucks, served a short apprenticeship prior to college, estimated jobs and managed projects. When Jim started, Crawford employed about 15 people and performed only residential and light commercial heating and air conditioning work. Crawford currently employs about 140 people. Crawford is a full service mechanical contractor servicing heating/air conditioning, plumbing/piping, service along with a large fabrication division that includes the brew division that occupies approximately 30,000 square feet. Crawford also fabricates Monoxivent in its manufacturing division that offers source capture exhaust and FRP products.
